Your Dancing' score card

"Dancing With the Stars" is just that: A star (of some level of brightness, usually mid to lower) is paired with a pro. Here are the dance teams appearing in Cleveland:

Joey McIntyre (star, first season) and Kym Johnson (pro dancer, third season). McIntyre is a former member of New Kids on the Block and a solo recording artist.

Drew Lachey (star, second season) and Cheryl Burke (pro dancer, second and third seasons). Lachey is a member of boy band 98 Degrees and a solo recording artist. Burke and Lachey won the competition in the show's second season.

Lisa Rinna (star, second season) and Louis Van Amstel (pro dancer, all three seasons). Rinna is known for her roles on "Days of Our Lives" and "Melrose Place." Rinna and Van Amstel were partners during the show's second season.

Joey Lawrence (star, third season) and Edyta Sliwinska (pro dancer, all three seasons). Lawrence appeared on television's "Blossom" and "American Dreams."

Harry Hamlin (star, third season) and Karina Smirnoff (pro dancer, third season). Hamlin is a television and movie actor seen in "Clash of the Titans," "L.A. Law" and "Veronica Mars."

Look for married couple Hamlin and Rinna to team up for a few dances.

Ohio's own Jerry Springer joins the tour in Cleveland, Chicago, Columbus, Cincinnati and Nashville, Tenn., as a special guest dancer. Country singer Sara Evans, who danced in the third season, will perform with the tour in Nashville. -- Julie E. Washington
