

Close Window

Print this page

Advertisement

Click for more of the best photojournalism:

Emmitt Smith, with Cheryl Burke on "Dancing With the Stars," deserved the trophy for pulling off that get-up.

Photo Credit: By Adam Larkey -- ABC Via Associated Press Photo

Most Viewed Photos (12:00 p.m. ET)

- Sept. 27: Bao Xishun, a Chinese man who measures about 7 feet, 8 inches tall, walks during an event at Tiananmen Square in Beijing. The 55-year-old Bao, a herdsman, has been declared as the world's tallest naturally-growing human by the Guinness Book of World Records.
- Richard Lisko, who lives near Waucousta, Wis., holds out one of the extra legs located half way up the leg of a deer he hit with his truck last month on Wednesday, Dec. 13, 2006, in Waucousta. Lisko hunts deer with a bow but got his most unusual one driving his truck down his mile-long driveway. The young buck had nub antlers and seven legs. Lisko said it also had both male and female reproductive organs. "It was definitely a freak of nature," Lisko said. \(AP Photo/The Reporter, Patrick Flood\)
- Jaana Baker, 23, holds the controller of her new Nintendo Wii in front of her 37-inch TV in

The "in" place to go for coffee?

Your kitchen.

Let this button turn your home into a coffee house.

TASSIMO

Placentia, Calif., Thursday, Oct. 14, 2006. Baker cracked her LCD screen during a particularly spirited round of Wii bowling after snapping the controller's wrist strap and sending it into her flat-screen TV. \(AP Photo/Chris Carlson\)